Call-A-Head Corp. works hard to evolve and fit our consumers growing needs. We achieve this goal by upgrading our units and providing new ideas that no one else is offering. We have done it again! By improving our ever popular Jobsite Head to the Contractors Head! This unit is proof that we are always a head of the competition. The Contractors Head is the largest polyethylene plastic portable toilet available today. With an excessive amount of space it allows the user greater range of motion. Which entail benefits workers encumbered with tools and bulky clothing during any season. The Contractors Head is no doubt the next best thing in portable restroom design. Its twin sheet construction creates excellent strength and durability. Due to its modern venting system a "chimney effect" is created. By pulling fresh air through the bottom floor vents and releasing the hot air through the vents located on the roof fresh air is constant in these units. Designed to handle upwards of 12-15 people during a 40 hour work week. This is a vast improvement when compared to the 8-10 people suggested for many basic units. Its 90 gallon holding tank is the largest ever designed in a portable toilet. With an art deco design it sets itself apart from all other competition. So set yourself apart with Call-A-Head Corp. For your next job, show the world that your jobsite is the jobsite with Call-A-Head on site!
